

Free, independent and confidential support for landowners.

Need help with understanding resources exploration, mining and quarrying activities?

The Landowner Information Service provides free, factual and impartial information to landowners, farmers and community members who are new to the exploration and mining process.

Its focus is to:

- Provide easy-to-understand information to any individual or business affected by resources exploration and mining activities.
- Explain your options, rights and responsibilities.
- Empower you to make informed decisions.

The LIS is completely impartial ... it is all about helping you understand the often complex technical and legal processes involved.

It is delivered by Rural Business Support – experienced providers of trusted, confidential and independent help.

Farmer, Warrambo

“Many landowners feel lost when they receive notice of exploration or mining interest in their property and do not know who to turn to for information.

There can be complex technical and legal processes involved which can feel foreign and intimidating for farmers.

The Landowner Information Service represents a great opportunity for people to seek free and impartial information to help them understand the process.

I would encourage any landowner who needs guidance to contact the service – it can be an uncertain time and getting the right information is important.”

The Landowner Information Service is an initiative of the South Australian Government, delivered by Rural Business Support and supported by the primary production and resources sectors.
